Product Spotlight: Fennel

Fennel belongs to the same family as parsley, dill and coriander. The bulb, stalk, leaves and seeds of the fennel are all edible!

A4 Fish in Crazy Water with Garlic Bread

Poached fish fillets in a flavourful fresh tomato and fennel broth, served with garlic ciabatta bread and green beans.

NOTES

The size of the fennel may vary, use to taste if you have a large one. Remove outer layer of fennel. Quarter bulb and remove the core. Keep some fronds for garnish.

Grate butter to soften quickly. If you're short on time just serve bread with plain butter.

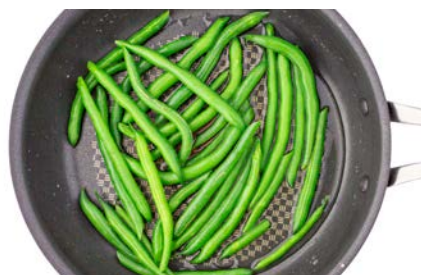

No gluten option - bread rolls are replaced with GF bread loaf.

1. SAUTÉ THE VEGETABLES

Set oven to 220°C.

Heat a large deep pan with olive oil over medium-high heat. Slice fennel (see notes) and dice tomatoes. Add to pan as you go with 1 tsp oregano. Cook for 3-4 minutes or until softened.

4. COOK THE BEANS

Heat a frypan over medium-high heat. Trim and add beans along with 1/4 cup water. Cook for 3-5 minutes, until tender or cooked to your liking. Season with salt and pepper.

2. SIMMER THE BROTH

Add tinned tomatoes, 2 tins water (800ml), 1 crumbled stock cube and 1/4 cup olive oil. Simmer, semi-covered, for 12 minutes.

5. ADD THE FISH

Rinse and add fish fillets (whole) to the tomato broth and poach for 3-5 minutes, covered, or until cooked through. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

3. MAKE THE GARLIC BREAD

Cut bread rolls in slices 3/4 way through. Crush garlic clove and mix with 1/2 tsp oregano, 1 tbsp olive oil, 50g butter and a pinch of salt (see notes). Spread the garlic butter into the cuts and warm in the oven for 5-7 minutes.

6. FINISH AND SERVE

Serve fish and broth in bowls with green beans and garlic bread. Garnish fish with reserved fennel fronds.
